EDISON
COLLEGE

Dear Sir or Madam,

Luis Velasco has attended three of my classes - EAP 1500 (speech), EAP 1560 (grammar), and EAP 1640 (grammar/writing). He always approached his school work with great care. In group activities, he was an enthusiastic, cooperative participant. His writing assignments were well constructed and edited. He incorporated information and techniques from my lessons into his writing, demonstrating a willingness to extend his comfort range and his skills. In grammar, he listened carefully to the lecture, asking questions to ensure that he understood every concept. His results on quizzes and assessments attested to the fact that he was well prepared, had practiced, and studied all of the material. In speech class, Luis's timed presentations were well written, prepared, and polished. He spoke with confidence and poise, engaging the attention of everyone in the class.

Luis earned an "A" grade in my classes, and I believe that his ability and work ethic will enable him to be successful in any course of study that he pursues. He is a kind, soft spoken young man who will be a credit to any institution that he attends.

Yours truly,

Robert Olancin

To Whom It May Concern:

It is with great pleasure that I find myself writing this letter of recommendation for Luis Velasco. Luis is an outstanding employee who on a daily basis goes "above and beyond" in taking care of our customers and his job duities. Luis willingly accepts new assignments and offers to help wherever he can. CVS/pharmacy can be a stressful and challenging place to work. Mr. Velasco remains steadfast in his cheerfulness, calmness, and dependability. He is an extraordinary employee and a vital member of our team. Luis has demonstrated excellent customer service and decision making skills. He is attentive to tasks and works tirelessly to achieve the goals of the store. He is an extremely positive and dependable employee, and performs his duties in an extremely timely and conscientious manner.

In the past 9 months Luis has received no less then 20 compliment calls from various customers. He has won several district service awards and has single handedly raised the level of service that is given at my store.
I truly believe that he will make an outstanding addition to your school. Please do not hesitate to contact me if you have any questions.

Sincerely,

Chris Antonacci
